

Facts

- archaeologists study the past.
- They look for clues in the past.
- They dig with a little tool called a trowel.
- The further you dig down the further archaeologist get paid $1,420 per month.

- They use a sieve to find things that they wouldn't see without one.
- The more things they find the more things they can find out.
- They find different stuff from different times.

How to become an archaeologist?

step 1: Earn a bachelors degree.

step 2: Participate in an internship

step 3: Earn a masters degree.

step 4: Find a job

step 5: Advance your career

What does an Archaeologist do?

Authors
Hannah hope Katie mactaggart

Fun Fact

Greece is a huge archaeological site!

did you know?
If it wasn't for archeology we wouldn't know about the past!

Different jobs they do.

- digging
- geo-physics
- sponging
- Drawing
- Photography
- Discover ~~aband~~ abandoned places.

quiz!

Don't cheat!
Don't look at the other pages

1. how much do archaeologists ~~work~~ get payed?

£

Where is a huge archaeologists site?

Geo Physics

★ You had a machine that went into the ground then you could see under.

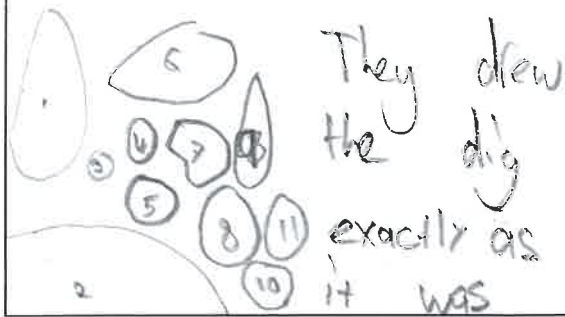

★ Every Metre the machine beeped.

★ It is attached to bag straps to help you carry it. 😊

how to become one

They use photography, drawings and written reports to record there new findings. teaching and giving talks about archeology.

Arranging, displaying, and taking care of artifacts in a museum.

drawing of site

What does an Archaeologist do?

An archaeologist digs up spots to find traces from the past to find more information about the early humans.

Authors

Flora and Donald

Photography

★ We used a tripod for taking photos up high.

★ Sarah used her phone to take some photos on the camera which was clever

digging

★ We dug up some mud to get some artifacts and also sponged the wall etc.

★ The stones were so old you had to be careful.

bamburgh

castle

★ by the colour and you fine the could it tell what was from

★ They find remains of animal bones and Anglo Saxons buildings.

★ they sometimes take some dirt and put it in a sieve to get some old stone.

★ The deeper the dig's the archaeologist the further they go back in time.